OUTDOOR RECREATION/NATIONAL PARKS

Border Ranges National Park

World Heritage rainforest on the rim of an ancient shield volcano, located 1 hour drive from Nimbin via Lillian Rock. Pinnacle lookout offers views of Mt Warning (Wollumbin), the escarpment and to the coast. A diverse range of walks and camping at Sheep Station Creek and Forest Tops.

Nightcap National Park

Subtropical rainforest given World Heritage status in 1983 following the efforts of conservationists. Must sees include Protesters Falls, Minyon Falls and Mt Nardi.

Nimbin Skate Park (Peace Park, Sibley St, Nimbin)

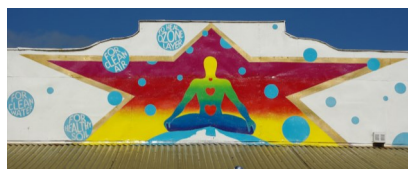

The park includes a snake run along the side of the park, which drops down into a larger bowl section that contains four different heights ranging from advanced vertical sections to lower beginners level.

Whian Whian Conservation Area

Adjoining Nightcap National Park, featuring Minyon Falls Lookout and Rummery Park Campground.

Wollumbin—Mt Warning National Park

The central point in the Shield Volcano which erupted around 21 million years ago. The ancient forests that occur here are a window into the past when rainforest covered most of the Australian continent. The Summit Track is a steep 4 - 5 hour return walk, with a challenging final rock scramble. Out of respect for Bundjalung law & culture, they ask that you consider not climbing Wollumbin.

When exploring the hinterland and National Parks, please ensure that you take adequate water, wear appropriate footwear and apply sun protection.
